

Helping customers increase profits, decrease expenses, and mitigate risk

Consignment Program

Hula Networks provides carriers and large enterprises with the logistical and technical expertise to assist our customers with the identification, cataloging and disposition of network assets both operational and obsolete.

Hula Networks' Consignment Program is a fast, easy way to get maximum value for your outdated, surplus or competitive displaced networking equipment. A trusted worldwide provider of network hardware, Hula Networks takes the risk and hassle out of recovering value from de-commissioned routers, switches, access servers and IP telephony products.

Hula Networks Process

- Hula Networks logistics services include pulling equipment from racks, packaging including supplying packing materials pick-up of equipment and transporting from any sites back to the Hula Networks controlled facility.
- Once consignment items arrive at Hula Networks, Inc. customer will be notified by next business day and consignment items will begin a secured testing process. An audit will be return to customer upon completion.
- Items will then be stored in Hula Networks secure, environmentally safe facility. All consignment items will be tracked and identified via computer and barcode-label.
- 24X7 online access will be provided for all consignment items; for real time activity of redeployment, selling, or disposing of Equipment. Hula Networks will insure that all consignment items are under a liability policy.

Benefits

By leveraging our customer base and partner's worldwide we are able to offer the most competitive values paid in the industry for decommissioned equipment. It is our goal to provide the most value throughout the entire process.

- We make every transaction as easy as possible for our clients. From pulling of equipment to shipping to real time online reports. All traceable with 24X7 online access.
- Hula Networks Logistics' solutions provides necessary visibility to process information and enables your team to proactively manage your idle assets and warehouse operations.
- Custom configuration capability ensures that Hula Networks Logistics' system meets your business requirements and enables integration with existing processes and measurement systems.
- Global capabilities ensure seamless operation throughout your network

Give Hula a call today, and experience how our consignment program can provide you an immediate ROI and improve your overall IT budgets.